

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is Minor League Table Tennis?

MiLTT is a team-based competition designed for amateur players to experience the excitement and competitive spirit of Major League Table Tennis at partner clubs across North America.

What is the competition format?

4 players per team; 1 free agent per season per team allowed as a substitute within 100 rating points of the absent player. All singles and doubles matches are 3 games (not best of 3) to 11. At 10-10, players play one Golden Point to determine the game winner. MiLTT will report team standings and individual power rankings after each week of competition.

TOTAL POINTS		25

Do players sign up as an individual or as a team?

Players sign up as individuals and teams are created by MiLTT. Similarly to MLTT, teams are created with competitive balance in mind and will have similar overall average ratings.

Who picks the teams and how?

Teams are created by MiLTT using a snake draft and are designed to have a similar overall team average. Players will provide their USATT rating (or estimate) for this purpose, but the competition is not sanctioned and will not affect a player's rating.

How many matches should players expect to play each week in one season?

On average, teams will play 2 team matches per competition day and 12-15 team matches per season. The exact number of matches played each week and each season is determined by several variables, including the number of tables at the club and the number of weeks in the season.
